PEACE DELEGATES LEAVING LONDON

European Powers are Greatly Discouraged at the Action of Envoys.

ARE EAGER TO FIGHT.

Representatives of Porte Say Country Will Never Give up Adrianople to The Balkan Allies.

London, Feb. 1.—Greece, the only belligerent in Balkan war who did not sign the armistice agreement of Bashtche, was the first actually to withdraw her peace delegates from London. Eleutherois Venizelos, Premier of Greece,who headed the Greek delegation,today left for Athens by way of Salonika. Dr. Streit, Greek minister ate Vienna, also left London today for his diplomatic post.

A close second to the Greeks, Stojan Novakovitch, the Servian chief, left today for Belgrade, accompanied by all his colleagues except M. Vesnitch, the Servian minister to France.

The powers have not given up hope of bringing about peace without further war in the Balkans, but it was known that the ambassadors were much discouraged.

The actual departure of the Balkan delegates did not strengthen the belief that the allies were bluffing, and at the same time diplomats were reading an alleged newspaper interview with Mahmud Shefket Pasha, Turkish Grand Viser, a seasoned warrior, in which he declared that the Turkish government could never consent to give up Adrianople. Shefket said that if his ministry should attempt to hand over the holy city they would meet the same fate as Kaimil Pasha and his adherents.

Optimists who have persistently believed that both Bulgars and Ottomans were bluffing and that neither would fight again, today therefore were not so certain of their contention.

Rechid Pasha and all the Turks were still in London today and the chief of the Turkish envoys said he had no definite plan for returning to Constantinople.

Advices from the Turkish city said that the disturbances among the Chatealja troops had been put down by the Young Turks and that no further revolutionary happenings were anticipated.

As he was leaving from Victoria Station, Premier Venizelos said:

"The reason for resuming the war, is that peace negotiations that do not bring peace are more costly than war.

"The expense of maintaining 800,000 men in the field gradually is exhausting the resources of the Balkan allies.It is costing Greece alone $1,000,000 a day and it is said Bulgaria is spending $300,000 a day.

"The Turks know this well, and are therefore playing the usual Ottoman game of procrastination, hoping to wear us out.

"The resumption of peace negotiations now is an impissibility, but we hope to return to London and sign a treaty after Turkey's fate is sealed."

The powers ambassadors consulted again today at the foreign office attempting to devise a means of preventing actual resumption of hostilities.

Advices from Sofia this afternon said that the Bulgarion troops, under command of General Savoff, were making active preparations to resume the bombardment of Adrianople the first moment after the official expiration of the armistice at 7 p. m. Monday.

Constantinople, Feb. 1.—Reports coming from Chatalja today said skirmishes already were in progress between the Turkish and Bulgarian troops encamped there in spite of the protocol agreement that four days must elapse before the formal denunciation of the armistice and the actual resumption of hostilities. It was said that several sharp skirmishes had taken place between the opposing soldiers the men acting without knowledge of their commanding officers.

It is known that the Turkish troops are eager to fight.Unless they can go home to their families, with peace assured, they would rather fight than camp idly on the lines.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Mrs. Abigail H. Bishop, society leader of New York, who recently created a furore in fashionable circles when she sued her husband, James C. Bishop, the banker, for divorce and named Mrs. J. Temple Gwathmey, a young society matron, as co-respondent, has asked Supreme Court Justice Hendrick for alimony of $50,000 a year and also the custody of her five daughters. Besides the motion for alimony there was submitted to the court an affidavit of a sensational nature sworn to by one of the witnesses whom Mrs. Bishop proposes to call to prove her charges of her husband's fondness for Mrs. Gwathmey. Mrs. Gwathmey, who is the wife of a former president of the New York Cotton Exchange proposes to fight Mrs. Bishop's allegeations.

A dispute over the question whether a mutual acquaintance was a good man or not resulted in killing Thursday afternoon of Jesse J. Evely, 32 years old, by Walter H. Belt, aged 64 years, a well-known farmer of Laytonsville district, Montgomery, Md. The shooting occurred at the home of Stephen B. Dorsey, a framer of the vicinity of Unity. Belt was placed under arrest. Evely and one or two others gathered at the Dorsey home Thursday afternoon and spent several hours drinking together. Among them was a man named Price, and Belt and Evely became involved in a dispute over what kind of a man Price was, Belt contending that he was all right, and Evely taking the opposite view. Belt, it is said, finally cursed Evely, an dthey later retaliated by striking Belt. Immediately the blow was struck Evely started to leave the room. Belt following. Just as Evely reached the front porch Belt, it is charged, while standing in the doorway, pulled his revolver and fired three times at Evely, two of the shots taking effect in his back .

The Senate yesterday, by a narrow margin of three votes, registered its disapproval of the plan of Senator Owen for presidential preference primaries and the direct election of Presidents and Vice Presidents by popular vote. This would do away with the electoral college.

Twice yesterday the West Virginia House of Delegates refused to invite Theodore Roosevelt and William J. Bryan to address the members on progressive legislation. The Senate adopted such a resolution Thursday, but when the matter came up in the House, Delegate Arbenz succeeds in getting an amendment including President Taft and Eugene V. Debs. The resolution was then voted down, 50 to 28, only three Republicans voting for it. Later a similar resolution concerning Roosevelt and Bryan was defeated by about the same vote.

Disorder of a serious character occurred last night in the strike of the 1,500 porcelain workers in Trenton, N. J., when a force of strikebreakers, imported by the ten plants involved in the labor trouble, attempted to leave their work. The imported men were assailed on the street by a crowd of strikers, among whom were a number of women and girls. Stones and bricks were hurled, and when the two forces met closely knives were used. Several arrests were made. The pottery workers have been on strike for a week. Late last night a dynamite bomb was thrown into the cellar under the floor of the offices of the Hudson porcelain works. It exploded and wrecked the office, but the rest of the plant was not damaged.

Twenty thousand women battled with each other, battled with policemen, and were beaten and bruised and crushed, in an effort yesterday morning to get into the tabernacle at Columbus, Ohio, where Rev. W. A. Sunday, the baseball evangelist, is conducting a revival. Women fought with umbrellas and with hatpins, while policemen used their clubs. A score of women fainted and hundreds suffered injuries. One lost a purse, containing $200 in the crash. Hundreds of women gathered at 4 a. m., although the meeting was to have commenced in the afternoon. At 10:30 o'clock the doors were thrown open, and the score of ushers and small army of policemen on duty were swept away by the rush of feminine worshippers. A door was torn from the building and fell onto the mob surging around it. A policeman was stabbed with a hatpin.

WINTRY WEATHER PREVAILS IN WEST

Chicago in Grip of Blizzard Snow and Mercury Down to Zero.

WILL LAST TWO DAYS.

Drop in Temperature Brings Much Suffering to The Poor—Many Appeals for Coal and Food.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—The promised cold wave made good today and Chicago was experiencing real winter for the first time since last February. A blinding snowstorm early last night was followed by a steady drop in temperature to the zero point early this morning. A gale made the cold more biting.

Forecaster Cox's prediction today was that the wave will last at least two more days and that the mercury would not go far above zero until early next week.

Suffering among the poor was reported today. United Charities Offices, police stations and county agents were besieged by appeals for coal and food.

Milwaukee, Wis, Feb. 1.—Thousands of poor families were suffering today following the forty degree tumble taken by the mercury since noon yesterday. From 30 above at 12 o'clock the mercury dropped to six below. A bitter northwest wind added to the suffering.

ADVENTURER IN PRISON.

Duped Thousands of Susceptible Admirers in European Capital.

Bucharest, Feb. 1—The prison doors have closed on one of the most fascinating and daring adventurers of Europe, when Mme. Irma Tchayni-Freyler, began a two year's sentence for swindling.

Posing variously as a princess and a countess, this woman, now nearly fifty years old, but still beautiful, has duped hundreds of susceptible admirers in Paris, Monte Carlo, Berlin, Vienna, Budapest and other continental capitals. At sixteen she caused the downfall of the richest banker in Budapest. He killed himself after embezzling more than $200,000 which he said he spent on the girl. Next she forged the name of a Budapest lawyer, who had fallen a victim of her charms to a check for $25,000, and shortly thereafter the son of a high government official blew out his brains after being detected in misappropriation of money which he used to lavish gifts upon her.

After this episode she became an opera singer, later eloping to Paris, with a prince who squandered $100,000 on her. Tiring of the prince, she returned to the stage and obtained an engagement in Budapest. Here she stole a diamond necklace belonging to the star of the company for which she obtained jewels on credit, on the After her release she conducted a series of successful raids on jewelers of Paris, Berlin, and Vienna, from whom she obtaine djewels on credit, on the endorsement of various aristocratic admirers.

At Godollo, Hungary, she obtained much money and jewelry, posing as a maid of honor to the late Empress Elizabeth of Austria. Then she turned to literature, and in Dresden published a book called "I," and alsoa newspaper serial. Both were found to be plagiarized and she was compelled to leave Germany, she attempted to renew her swindles in Roumania, and was caught. Her 18-year-old daughter, convicted with her, received a one year sentence.

The Grace Church Circle King's Daughters will hold a sale of aprons and fancy articles on Monday at Lee Camp Hall. It will be followed by a musical commencing, at 8 o'clock.

GLASS CONFERS WITH WILSON.

Chairman of House Sub-Committee Meets President-Elect.

Princeton, Feb. 1.—The President-elect Wilson's only complete conference of Thursday was with Representative Carter Glass, of Virginia, chairman of the house sub-committee on currency. Mr. Glass last month at Princeton obtained from the president-elect his ideas which should be included in the currency reform bill. Mr. Glass' visit today was for the purpose of submitting the result of the hearings on currency being held in Washington. He said that, though he did not know the president-elect's plan in the matter, the bills would be ready for introduction at he extraordinary session to be called soon after Governor Wilson's inauguration.

This is in accordance with the governor's wishes. It is his plan to have the bills ready, even if they were not rushed. It may develop that the tariff will drag along to the exclusion of all other legislation. But the governor feels that the tariff, the currency and the trusts are so closely interwoven that all should be disposed of by the extra session if possible.

Mr. Glass said that the hearings of his committees would terminate on February 15th, the last person to be heard being Sir Edmund Walker, president of the Bank of Montreal.

"However," he said, "our committee will not report to the present session. But we will be ready to report to the extra session."

Mr. Glass was asked if his bills contemplated any radical changes in the currency.

"I cannot tell you that, he replied, "but this I will say, that radical changes are needed."

Speaking of Mr. Glass' visit, the changes are needed."

Speaking of Mr. Glass' visit, the president-elect said:

"Mr. Glass and I had a long talk about the progress of the currency hearings, and he pleased me by telling me that he thought the attitude of the big bankers who appeared before the committee was one of friendly co-operation. We went over the history of the testimony since I saw him there these hearings had not begun. I understand the committee will not report to the present session of congress. Mr. Glass did not say that explicity, but I inferred it. I was glad to learn the bills would be ready for the extraordinary session."

The president-elect reverted to his Chicago speech, saying:

"When I said in Chicago that the banking system of this country stood convicted, I thought I had said what everybody knew before. Sometimes one's common places startle the country. It seems that whenever I deliver a speech somebody congratulates me on an idea that I knew to be as old as Aristotle. The persons who congratulate me tell me that the idea never occurred to them before. Then I feel like going off and soaking my head."

Icy Bath.

Sea Bright, N. J., Feb. 1.—None the worse for their ducking in the icy waters of the Shrewsbury, from which they were spectacularly rescued after driving off an open draw bridge on a motorcycle Rodman Law balloonist and steeplejack and Rosetta Phoner said today that they would go through the same experience again for the same price. Law with Miss Phoner on the cycle with him drove at high speed yesterday into the open drowbridge. Crowds of excited spectators shouted warning in vain. With gasps of horror the on-lookers saw the two take the plunge. Then a motorboat, manned by men in sailors garb speeded up and hauled the two from the water. They also recovered the motorcycle to which Law had clung. The spectators started to cheer but suddenly, they noted with disgust a man on the bridge turning a motion picture camera's crank. It was just a stunt for the "movies."

Business Men Protest.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—Business men protested against the new postal regulations suspending activities between three and five o'clock in the afternoon. They said that the new rules which go into effect Monday, will cause them a heavy loss.

The order was issued by Postmaster Daniel A. Campbell in compliance with the act of Congress providing that clerks and carriers must complete their eight hours work within a maximum of ten hours.

A large part of the offices in the city close at five o'clock and consequently will get no mail after the early afternoon delivery.

RIOTOUS SCENES ACCOMPANY STRIKE

Dirks and Bricks Used by Porcelain Workers And Others Last Night.

WRECKED BY A BOMB.

Bricklayers, Hod Carriers and Machinists Walk Out Today and Inaugurate Sympathetic Strike.

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 1.—Serious trouble again marked the strike of the 1,200 porcelain workers in this city late last night. Three men were stabbed one probably fatally another struck in the head with a brick and one of the porcelain plants affected by the strike partially wrecked by dynamite.

Late last night while the watchmen and his assistant were in another part of the building, a bomb was thrown into the clay room of the Hudson porcelain works and the terrific explosion wrecked that part of the plant.

Peter Snyder is in Mercer Hospital with a six-inch stab wound in his neck and physicians believe that his windpipe is cut.

Stephen Snyder, his brother, was severely cut in the neck.

Louise Mattores received a stab wound in the chin.

Gaete Pennachio, who is accused of doing the cutting was badly injured by being struck in the head with a brick.

The Snyder brothers are not porcelain workers and were on their way to a garage when it is alleged, some one called Pennachio a scab. According to spectators Pennechio drew a knife and stabbed the three men.

The bricklayers, hod-carriers and machinists at the various porcelain work swent out in sympathy with the strikers today. The employers have employed private detectives to guard their plants.

Police Lieutenant Implicated.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 1.—The sceond chapter of startling revelations in the confession of 'Big Bill" Kiliher, who is serving an 18-year sentence for aiding young George W. Coleman, an $18 a week clerk in looting the Cambridge National Bank of nearly a half million dollars, today implicated a former New York police lieutenant. According to Keliher, this ex-lieutenant retired and set himself up in a business he conducts today in Manhattan, on $20,000 he receved as his share in protecting the faro games at which Coleman and others were fleeced

Kelihen said the lieutenant came to Boston and planned to take Coleman to Australia before any indictments had been returned against him. This plan was abandoned. Keliher declared today that the police official whom he names, is still drawing a pension and that he has grown wealthy.

Heavy Fine.

Petersburg, Va., Feb. 1. — Abe Hamburg, a white stranger was charged in the Police court yesterday morning with peddling jewelry without a license. He was found guilty and was fined $400. An appeal was taken to the Hustings Court and Hamburg was released on bail.

Hamburg said he had a friend who made the jewelry for him. Therefore he could sell it for much less than jewelers in general. Articles which retail for $14 and $15, Hamberg said he bought for $8 and sold for $12, thereby making a profit of $4. He admited selling the goods without a license. He was represented by P. H. Drewry of this city.

DECIDED SUCCESS.

The farce "At the Union Station," by the Young Men's Club of Christ Church, at the Parish Hall of that Church last night, was a decided success in every way, and was witnessed by a large and arppeciative audience. The well known characters impersonated by the young men, brought forth repeated encores, and those taking parts deserve great credit for the manner in which same was rendered. During the evening selections were rendered by the Alexandria Musical Association, and the Junior Mandolin Club, which was greatly enjoyed.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 1.—"The National Old Age Penson Bureau" and "W. C. Woodward' ceased to exist today with the abandonment by "Big Bill" Hawley one time confidence men of the bureau. After a conference with Chief Postal Inspector Cortelyou last evening, Hawley promised he would close up the bureau which he put in operation only two days ago for the collecton of funds to assist aged persons unable to earn a livelihood."

"Big Bill" still maintains that he was absolutely snicere in his project and that he had not received any money since his bureau was opened Although Chief Cortelyou had received no complaints regarding the affair he persuaded Hawley to try something else.

Estimates varying from $50,000 to $100,000 are given of the amount taken from the Adams Express Company's strong box. It represented the day's receipts of the stock yards.

The bandit, with face shrouded in a blue handkerchief, boarded the train on the run and obtained the strong box key from the guard on threat of death. As he left the car with the leather bag he ran into the conductor. There was a sharp encounter and the bandit escaped. With a partial description as a guide, the police are searching for the robber.

LABOR LEADER FATALLY SHOT

Would-be Murderers Attack Wrong Man in Jersey City.

TO GET $150 FOR JOB.

One Assassin Captured—Gives Names of Associates as "Kid Dynamite" and "Big Slim."

Jersey City ,N. J., Feb. 1.—Labor circles were greatly agitated today by the shooting of Thomas Conroy, former business agent of the building trades council of Hudson county, by three hired thugs in mistake for the man they "had been sent to get."

Conroy is at the point of death in Christ Hospital with three bullet wounds in his abdomen.

Two of his assailants got away, but the third was over-powered. He told the police his name was Ernest Wilaber, and gave his address as a Bowery lodging house. He said he did not know his two companions except as "Kid Dynamite" and "Big Slim." They had asked him to help them "do" a man for which they were do split $150 between them. Wilaber did not know it meant murder, he said.

Wilaber said Conroy was not the man they were after. He said he did not know the name of the man they were to "get" but his description was something like Conroy and he thought his companions had mistaken the labor leader for their quarry. He didn't know who had offered the $150 "reward."

RODENT TO MAKE ITS EXIT

Meteorological Conditions Tomorrow Supposed Index of Next Six Weeks

From present appearances, the ground hog will make a hasty retreat to his lodging when he peers out tomorrow and surveys the weather, as there is every reason to believe he will see his shadow, in which event it will continue its hibernation for six weeks, as wintry conditions will it is supposed, be inevitable during that period.

This superstition is one of the oldest on record and runs back beyond the Christian era. Farmers in ancient day, while not attributing the weather which was to follow the second of February to the ground hog, imagined that if bright conditions prevailed in that day foul and unseasonable weather would follow during the succeeding six weeks. In Germany the movements of skunks and other animals are watched with anxiety on the second of February. Should an agriculturist see one of these creatures emerge from its winter lodging and beat a hasty retreat to its hole, this procedure would be regarded as an evil omen.

Two months of the cold season have passed away without being marked by any severe weather. Much, however may follow before the return of the blue birds.

ALLEGED IRON THIEVES.

The only case before the Police Court this morning was that of Morris Robinson, a colored boy, who had been arrested by Officer Talbot on the charge of stealing scrap iron from the premises of the Southern Railway Company in this city. The officer caught Robinson with a bag containing the iron in his possession. It weighed about 75 pounds. After having been placed under arrest Robinson alleged Jennie Payne, a colored woman, procured the iron and engaged him to sell it. Jennie was cited to appear together with several witnesses the defense had named. After the officer had made his statement, Robinson said Jennie Payne promised him cigarettes if he would dispose of the metal. Two colored women and one of Robinson's brothers corroborated his statement. The Payne woman impeached their testimony vehemently and threatened them with assault. After Justice Caton had listened to the evidence, he concluded to continue the case in order that Officer Talbot may procure additional facts in the case. Robinson and Jennie Payne were held. Upon being taken out of the room the latter added to her previous threats against those who had testified against her.

Monday night will be firemen's night in Alexandria and an elaborate banquet will be given on that night by the officers and members of the Reliance Engine Company complimentary to the members of the other two volunteer companies in Alexandria, the Columbia Engine Company and the Relief Hook and Ladder Company No. 1. There have been invited a large number of guests, including Chief Wagner, of the Washington Fire Department, Mayor Thomas A. Fisher, Chief Robert E. Gronau, of the Alexandria department and the members of the fire committee of City Council under whose direction the local department is operated.

Mr. L. E. Uhler, president of the Reliance, will serve as toastmaster, and Mr. H. Noel Garner, of the same company, will make the address of welcome. Responses will be made by Mr. J. H. Trimyer, president of the Relief, and Mr. W. A. Smoot,, president of the Columbia. The fire committe of the City Council is expected to be present, although, to the present time, no acknowledgments have been received from any of its members. In the event of an acceptance of the invitations on the part of any of the gentlemen connected with this committee, they will, of course, be called on for some remarks. Those invited include the Mayor, Hon. Thomas A. Fisher, the City Council, Chief Wagner of the Washington department, Chief Robert E. Gnonau, of the Alexandria department, the executive officers of the two visiting companies and the entire membership of the receiving companies together with representatives of the press and other especially invited guests. Mr. J. William May, also of the Reliance, will interpolate some of his celebrated witticisms mingled with a semblance of seriousness, if possible. Besides the above impromptu speeches will be a feature and the Alexandria Ideal Mandolin Club has kindly consented to furnish music for the evening. A tempting menu has been prepared and altogether the afair promises to be a succes in every particular, especially in attendance, judgng from the number of acceptances being received daily. The four elective officers of the Reliance have the entertainment in charge and are leaving nothing undone that will be essential to the proper enjoyment of the evening.

NEWS OF THE OLD DOMINION.

LAST APPEAL FOR ALLENS.

Sympathizers to Have One-Hour Audience With Governor.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 1.—With every legal recourse exhausted and all hope from the courts gone, Allen sympathizers, who are bent upon saving the condemned men from the electric chair, will make their final stand today before Governor Mann in an appeal for executive clemency.

When the State Supreme Court of Appeals turned down the second appeal of the counsel for Floyd and Claude Allen, in the form of a petition for a rehearing of the case, several weeks ago, with the opinion that the petition was without precedent and that the so-called after discovered evidance was without sufficient merit to warrant action anyhow, Governor Mann respited the Allens until March 7, and further assented to the appeal of those interested to grant one more hearing, fixing the date for the audience as February 1, and limiting it to one hour.

So today at 11 o'clock the delegation will wait on the executive and present to him the strongest reasons at its command for commutation of sentence. The gentlemen who will probably compose the delegation are keeping their own counsel as to what pressure will be brought to bear in the last analysis, but in the opinion of those who have watched the case closely the same ground will be gone over as taken in the former hearing only that it wil be presented in more concrete shape. There have been no developments in the case since the Supreme Court passed on the second appeal, and at that time the special counsel engaged for the purpose marshalled an array of every allegation and presumption of fact obtainable, all of which the tribunal pronounced cumulative and not tending one whit in extenuation of the gilt of the father and son.

It is the general impression that the petitioners for executive mercy will lay stress upon the lghter sentences imposed upon the members of the Allen clan tried since Floyd and Claude for participation in the same crime, and will renew the appeal for Claude, based on his youth, good looks, and the theory that he used his gun in a natural instinct in defense of his father. All of these arguments were gone into exhaustively at the previous hearing before the Governor, and unless the Allen sympathizers have cards up their sleeves which they have not played, the hearing today will be a condensed repetition of the former hearing. Limited to an hour, it is the presumptoin that the audience today with the Governor will be held in his office in the Capitol.

Judge Bolen, counsel for Floyd Allen at the time of the Hillsville courthouse murders and the chief witness for the Commonwealth in all of the trials followed, will form one of the delegation which will wait upon the Governor. Miss Nellie Wissler, sweetheart of Claude, will visit Claude at the State prison. Whether she will add her appeal to the others is not known, though it is presumed that she will. Victor Allen, son of Floyd and brother of Claude, will wait upon the Governor with the others of the delegation in an appeal for his father and brother, and Judge Hairston and H. Willis, of Roanoke, who were counsel for Floyd and Claude in their later trials, and will add their voices to the final appeal for clemency for the condemned men.

VALUES HUSBAND AT $10,000.

Wife Crosses Continent to Push Alienation Suit in Richmond.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 1.—Mrs. Emma Ross, of Los Angeles, made the long journey to Richmond to aid in the prosecution of her suit for $10,000 damages against her mother-in-law, Mrs. Nannie Ross; her sister-in-law, M. Olive Heaton, and brother-in-law, E. J. Heaton, of Henrico county, for alienation of her husband's affections, the hearing of which began before Judge R. Carter Scott in the Henrico County Circuit Court here today.

Mrs. Ross, who is the mother of two children, alleges that Harry A. Ross, whom she married in 1892, was estranged from her by the three defendants, who entered into a conspiracy, with the result that her home was broken up, her happiness destroyed and her husband ceased to provide for her and the children.

The witnesses for the defense will come from Memphis, Tenn., tomorrow and the case will proceed, having been in the courts for two years.

A blizzard, general over the iron ranges and northwestern Wisconsin and Minnesota, started Thursday night and continued today with unabated fury.

WANTS $40,000 DAMAGES.

Case of Engineer W. L. Lloyd Will Prove Interesting.

Lynchburg, Va., Feb. 1.—The Federal statute, which is known as the employer's liability act, has been invoked by W. L. Lloyd, of Greensboro, N. C., in a suit for $40,000 damages against the Southern Railway Company. The suit grew out of an accident which occurred at Spencer in January, 1911, when engineer Lloyd was seriously injured.

According to the complaint, which was filed, Mr. Lloyd is incapacitated for work, his health is undermined and he is unable to sleep because of his injuries. The facts alleged say that he was ordered to take an engine out of the Spencer shops and try it out on the yard tracks and there to pas upon the repairs which had been put on it. He was unaccustomed to the engine and while stooping over to examine some part of the locomotive, the lever controlling the ash-pan, slipped and struck him on the forehead.

The skull bone was crushed and part of it was driven into the brain. The engineer recovered from the acute stages of his injury, but his sight remains impaired and he is allegdly in otherwise crippled physical state. Under the statute that the suit is drawn, contributory negligence of the employe cannot be shown to the jury or pleaded to prevent recovery of damages, but it may be snown in an effort to reduce the amount of damages to be awarded.

In the suit the Southern and the North Carolina railroad are made joint defendants, as it was on trackage leased from the North Carolina Railroad that the accident occurred.

In connection with cases of this kind it is interesting to note that the General Assembly now in session has enacted an employers' liability law for this state in terms similar to the Federal law. Under it, when it becomes effective, the issue for the jury in such damage suits will be contracted from the three of the past two: Was the defendant culpable in negligence and to what extent was the plaintiff damaged? Heretofore juries have also passed upon the question of the employe's contributory negligence in his own injury.

No answer to the bill of complaint in the Lloyd case has been filed by the Southern and will not be until the motion to remove the case it finally determined.

Peculiar Drowning.

Petersburg, Va., Feb. 1.—A very peculiar drowning occurred in the river Thursday morning opposite the Union passenger station.

A negro was seen swimming in the middle of the river. Whether he fell in or jumped in is not known. He swam close to the shore and then swam again to midstrem. After sinking several times he finally disappeared and rose no more.

When he was first seen, a number of people thought it was a dog in the water. Some who witnessed the drowning said that it looked like suicide. Others think that his swimming toward the shore and then turning and going to midstream was the result of excitement. At any rate, the man did not cry for help.

It is thought, however, that the unfortunate man fell from the temporary foot bridge near the old Pocahontas bridge.

His body has not yet been recovered and his identity is not known.

No Evidence of Murder.

Houston, Va., Feb. 1.—Coroner W. C. Pulliam on Wednesday held an inquest over the body of S. C. Barnett, a deputy sheriff of Halifax county, who was killed by a passenger train on the Norfolk and Western Railway near Deniston Junction. The fact that he had been attempting to arrest desperate illicit distillers, and the peculiar way in which the body was mutilated, caused the suspicion that he had been murdered and then carefully placed upon the track. No evidence, however, was produced at the inquest to show other than that he came to his death by being run over by the train of cars, and the verdict of the jury was rendered accordingly.

Killed By Train.

Norfolk Man, Filled With Remorse, and Disgust Gives Himself up.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 1.—The memory of a pretty young girl who calls him father, remorse for his first offense after having held the confidence of business men for a decade, and disgust for his life as an eloper and fugitive from justice, induced L. O. Shipp, of Norfolk, Va., where he is wanted on a charge of embezzlement of $1,689 from Harry Tabb to surrender himself to the Los Angeles police Thursday, according to his own statement.

"My little daughter is now sixteen years old," said Shipp, "and lives with her mother in Norfolk. I separated from my wife nine years ago, but I always made it a practice to write to my daughter every day. I was very happy with my wife, when a dark haired woman, a modern Eve, came into my life, and that was my undoing. I spent my money right and left upon her and then when things began to look black for me, I came with her to Los Angeles. Although it was through her that I was not caught before, the face of my little girl kept appearing to me, and I just had to give myself up."

Salves Can't Cure Eczema

In regard to skin diseases, medical authorities are now agreed on this: Don't imprison the disease germs in your skin by the use of greasy salves, and thus encourage them to multiply. A true cure of all cutaneous diseases can be brought about only by using the healing agents in the form of a liquid.

WASH THE GERMS OUT.

A simple solution of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol, Glycerine and other ingredients as contained in the D.D.D. Prescription. This penetrates to the disease germs and destroys them, then soothes and heals the skin as nothing else has ever done.

A 50 cent bottle will start the cure and give you instant relief.

We have made fast friends of more than one family by recommending this D.D.D. Prescription to a skin sufferer here and there, and we want you to try it now on our positive pay guarantee. D.D.D. Soap keeps the pores clean.

MEASLES IS PREVALENT.

Alexandria, like many other cities in Virginia, at the present time is undergong a slight epidemic of measles which so far has not numbered any fatal results. At the same time precautions are being taken to prevent its spread.

Measles is too often regarded as one of the necessary ills of childhood, and so treated lightly. It is seldom fatal to children over two years of age. Among younger victims the mortality is heavy. But aside from the immediate danger of death, the disease is peculiarly hard on children in its after effects. It is possible that some of those who are now recovering will pay heavy penalties in eye and throat troubles and in undermined vitality. A subordinate, but not unimportant, consideration is the money cost of such an epidemic. Each sick child is a drain on the family purse, and families least able to bear added burdens are those most liable to be afflicted.

For these reasons, and for the broad human desire to mitigate infant suffering, both teachers and parents must co-operate to stamp out the contagion. At no time is the social nature of disease better illustrated than in such a visitation. Schools and Sunday schools are the chief means of spreading the disease. Each case is a breeding center for others. Children must be protected against contracting measles and, on the other hand, when one has contracted it, the individual must be prevented from spreading the contagion. Too frequently mothers and fathers are careless of the obvious duty they owe the children of others.

Two main points may be emphasized in stamping out the disease. It is always contracted by direct contact with the person, never through a third person or by touching the clothing. By impressing this on children, parents might help to stay the epidemic. Second, a child may spread the disease before he himself actually shows plain symptoms of having it. This calls for the prompt isolation of suspicious cases.

READING THE BIBLE IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

As had been anticipated the action of Richmond School Board in ordering teachers to read the Bible in public schools does not meet with the unanimous approbation of the people of that city, and many still think that the Sunday schools of the various denominations should impart the spiritual and the public schools the secular education.

In his sermon in Beth Ahabah Synagogue, last night, Dr. Edward N. Carlisch, well known in Alexandria, discussed the recent action of the City School Board in instructing that the Bible be read daily hereafter in the public schools.

"The Public School Board of the city of Richmond at its meeting last Monday evening,' 'said Dr. Calisch, "adopted a resolution to the effect that as religious influence and instruction were very desirable things to be brought to bear upon children during the impressionable years of their school life,they, the board, requested the teachers in the scholos of the city to open their daily sessions with readings from the Bible. I desire to call the action to your attention in order that you might realize the full purport of it. Seemingly innocent on the surface, and apparently unobjectionable in its motive, the action of the School Board nevertheless has a very far reaching effect that is dangerous to the welfare of the city and the state. While it is true that at the botetom it a purely American question and should be considered on the strict basis of Americanism, yet because we Jews, together with some others, are most vitally affected, it behooves us to take notice of this resolution.

"I have no doubt that the members of the board had the best of intentions in its adoption. But they either did not see, or if they did see, they did not concern themselves over the fact that this action involves a question which strikes at the very fundamental spirit of American insttutions. It means the nitroduction of religious exercises,and no doubt sectarian religious exercises in public institutions where they have neither place nor reason. The authors and supporters of this resolution may honestly believe that they are not tresspassing on the rights of any individual. But it is very difficult for the average individual of a majorty to be able to recognize and acknowledge the rights of the minority.

"It is not here the time nor place to make such protest or defense as needs to be made. But I desire these truths to be voiced and if possible recognized."

RED JACKET AND HIS GRANDSON-COLONEL PARKER.

(Communicated.)

Colonel Richard Parker was the grandson of the famous Indian Chief Red Jacket, a pure blooded Indian, intelligent and educated, a gentleman and a Mason; we believe, master of a lodge in Galena, Ills.

At the banquet in Chicago, at the tri-ennial meeting, Bro. Parker was "called out" and made a speech worthy of preservation. He spoke of himself as almost a lone remnant of what was once a noble race ;of his struggles in coming forward to manhood, and seeing his race thus wasting away, he asked himself:

"Where shall I go when the last of my race shall have gone forever? Where shall I find a home and sympathy when our last council fire is extinguished? I said, I will knock at the door of Masonry, and see if the white race will recognize me, as they had my ancestors, when we were strong and the white men were weak. I knocked at the door of the Blue Lodge, and found brotherhod around its altar; I knelt before the Greate Light in the Chapter, and found companionship beneath the Royal Arch. I entered the encampment, and found a valiant Sir Knight willing to shield me there without regard to race or nation. I went further, I knelt ate the cross of my Saviour and found Christian brotherhood the crowning charity of the Masonic tie.

I feel assured that when my glass is run out, and I shall follow the footsteps of my departed race, Masonic sympathy will gather around my coffin and drop into my lonely grave the evergreen acacia,—sweet emblem of a meeting in the beter home above. If my race shall disappear from this continent, I have the consoling hope that our memory will not perish. If the deeds of my ancestors shall not live in story, their memories will remain in the names of your lakes and rivers, your towns and cities."

After giving utterance to these eloquent and touching words, he sat down "amid the solemn silence and deep emotion of the guests."

His words had waked an echo in every heart, and "eyes unused to weep" give tribute to tears. Silence —the silence of profound emotion, ensued while the chief sat subdued under the power of his own reflections. At length he arose and again resumed his remarks :

"I have omitted one thing which I ought to have said.I have in my possession momento which I highly prize —I wear it near my heart, it came from my ancestors to me, as their successor in office. It was a present from Washington to my grandfather, Red Jacket, when your nation was in the infancy. You will be glad to see and handle it, and I should do wrong were I not to give you the opportunity."

As he spoke thus, he removed a wampum from his neck, and drew from his bosom a large massive medal in oval form, some seven inches by five, which passed from hand to hand along the tables. On one side of this medal was engraved, in full length, the figure of the two chiefs; Red Jacket in costume presenting the pipe of peace and Washington with right hand extending as in the act of receiving it.

On the other side were the Masonic emblems with the date, 1792.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The strike of New York hotel waiters was officially declared off yesterday. This action was taken at a meeting of the waiter's organization. It was declared that the men would return to their hotels and seek their former positions. Several hundred striking waiters attended the meeting. The discussion was acrimonious, but the majority declared that the organization was losing ground, and the vote to end the strike prevailed.

A meeting of suffragettes at Danielson, Conn. Thursday night was thrown into confusion when a farmer from Mechanicsville, who said he was John Frisbie interrupted Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, of the National Suffrage Association, in the middle of her address and coolly proposed marriage to her. "Just a minute," cried Frisbie, interrupting the suffrage leader's flow of words. "I have been a widower for 18 years. Will you marry me and make me happy?" Dr. Shaw was quite evidently unnerved and stood speechless for a moment or two, then she recovered her faculties. "I don't want a wedding ring; all I want is the vote," she cried dramatically. "All right, if that's the way you feel about it," said Frisbie, and he left the hall.

Mrs. Daniel E. Sickles has made an appeal to the public and to Governor Sulzer, of New York, to save General Sickles from the consequences of his alleged shortage of $23,000 in the Monument Commission funds and to enable him to keep his property, which is subject to immediate foreclosure proceedings. Mrs. Sickles said that she deeply pitied the general, despite his refusal to expel his housekeeper, Miss Eleanor Earle Wilmerding. "I wish the public would come to the aid of General Sickles," shes aid. "If I can forgive General Sickles, I think the general public can. The thing to do is to save General Sickles. In the words of the poet, 'His mistakes should be written in sand and his deeds in granite."

THE LATE DR. CRAICK.

A venerable and esteemed Alexandrian, for many years a member of Alexandria-Washington Lodge of Masons, replies to queries of Mr. George C. Round, of Manassas, who recently stated in the Gazette that he is anxious to ascertain the burial place of Dr. James Craick who was surgeon of the Virginia batallion, which in 1775 marched from Alexandria to Ft. Duquesne, with General Braddock, and at the end of the revolutionary war, he was surgeon general of the American army, resided in Alexandria after the revolution, was Washington's family physician and was with him when he died at Mount Vernon.

He says the information desired can be found in "The History of Alexandria-Washington Lodge," prepared by the late F. L. Brockett, page 112, where it is stated that Dr. Craick, who was a member of the lodge, died on the Ravensworth estate, in Fairfax county, about eight miles from Alexandria. An account of his marriage and other incidents in his history can be found in this bok.

THE TEST THAT TELLS.

Is The Test of Time. Many Alexandria People Have Made This Tet.

Years ago this Alexandria citizen told in a public statement the benefit derived from Doan's Kidney Pills.

The statement is now confirmed—the testimony complete. Instances like this are numerous. They doubly prove the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills. Can any Alexandria reader demand more convincing proof? It's Alexandria testimony—it may be investigated.

Mrs. Anine Scott, 110 Prince street, strong friend to Doan's Kidney Pills Alexandria, Va., says: "I am the same today, as I was in 1910 when I publicly told of the cure they had made for me. This cure has been lasting, but I occasionally use Doan's Kidney Pills as a preventive. I had pains in my back and I could not rest well. In the morning I always felt tired and worn out, and I also had dizzy spells. Doan's Kidney Pills did such good world that it is a pleasure to recommend them to other kidney sufferers."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

The Clapp committee, created to probe campaign expenditures, may not report to Congress this session. Chairman Clapp admitted that the committee was at present divided in its views and uncertain as to recommendations.

The establishment of a "charting system" in all stock and commercial exchanges, showing the exact position of merchant ships nad warships at sea, will be one of Secretary of the Navy Meyer's last official acts. Commander W. H. Bullard chief wireless expert and Commander George E. Cooper, Chief Hydrographer are working out a scheme by which daily wireless reports wil be received by the Arlington station from all American ships. Every morning the position of the ships will be flashed throughout the country and marked on a large charts of the Atlantic Ocean with pins.

Ratification of only one more state is necesary to add the income tax plan to the Federal constitution. West Virginia Congresmen today notified the state department that the legislature of their state had unanimously ratified the amendment and that Governor Glascock would sign the measure today and send it at once to Washington. West Virginia is the thirty-fifth state to approve the income tax. Ratification by thirty-six —two-thirds of the states—would mean its incorporation as an amendment to the constitution.

Drinks Abingdon Dispensary Liquor and Passes Away.

Roanoke, Va., Feb. 1.—John Wampler, a widely known horse trader, of this section of the state, who appeared at many county courts in recent years to greet farmers, died in Marion Wednesday of alcoholic poisoning alleged to have been caused by whiskey bought in Abingdon, where there is a dispensary for the sale of intoxicating drinks.

Wampler left Marion Sunday with some horses, and it seems that after disposing of them in Abingdon last Monday, he began drinking at the dispensary. He became unconscious and remained so until death. He was brought home Tuesday night.
